Such listing shall identify who position each nominee is seeking election for. Option: “Nominations may also come from the floor at the Annual General Meeting.” Some Associations allow nominations to come from the floor at the AGM. This clause has an element of risk to it. An independent group could attend an AGM and nominate individuals who have an agenda, which is contrary to the aims of the Association. Currently the Executive has the power to appoint people to the Executive if there are not enough nominations from the committee. This point needs to be discussed by the executive as what is their pleasure.
